So you need to have an Internet connection at that moment of checking for updates. Once you've updated, HOME will install the new map in the SD card. Q: Easier way to add "-" and "0" when nycml(text) in R I'm trying to convert local time to utc time and am using the package nycml. When I use the function as.POSIXct("09:00", origin="1970-01-01", tz="UTC"), it returns NA. I want to be able to do the conversion with as.POSIXct(nycml(date), tz="UTC"), but can't figure out how to correctly add a dash and a zero to make the date. Here is an example of how it can get messy. mydate 82138339de
