Roblox is an online game platform and game creation system developed by Roblox Corporation that allows users to program games and play games created by other users. Created by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel in 2004 and released in 2006, the platform hosts user-created games of multiple genres coded in the programming language Lua. For most of Roblox's history, it was relatively small, both as a platform and a company. Roblox began to grow rapidly in the second half of the 2010s, and this growth has been accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic. What is Robux? Robux is the virtual currency used on Roblox and is earned by players that log in and play games. Users can spend Robux on virtual in-game items including clothing, audio, visual, and cosmetic items. Robux can also be used to purchase premium virtual property in the Roblox Marketplace such as full-service virtual homes that players can furnish and customize. How do I become a Robloxian? Players can create their own profile on Roblox at any time by choosing a username and password. A player's Robloxian id is the username they use to log in to Roblox and connect to their gameplay experience. To join a Robloxian community, players must set up a game of their choice on Roblox, and join a community based on the game they choose to play. Joining one of these communities allows you to play other users' games with other users in Roblox, and also allows you to communicate with other players with a common interest in the game you chose to play. Players can also go to the Creator Portal on the homepage of Roblox to start the process of becoming a developer. Roblox Games Roblox hosts a large library of user-created games, many of which are not free, but Robux can be used to play these games. Games can be created by both the Roblox staff and the users of Roblox. Robux is not required to play games created by the Roblox staff, but Robux players are encouraged to spend Robux on those games they enjoy. The creator of a game must pay a fee to get their game available on Roblox, regardless of the sale of Robux or Robux bundles. Free users cannot make their games available on Roblox, and developers cannot create games and make them available on Rob
