This message might come up if you are trying to install Lion on a computer that is already setup to use Mac OS X Lion, you might not be able to install it on top of Lion. This message also might occur if your computer has a special version of Mac OS X called Mountain Lion already installed on it, this method works great but it will tell you that it can not install Mac OS X Lion because the computer already has Lion installed. You have to go into the settings of the computer, choose applications, then click the preferences button then click the upgradation tab, and under the system section click the main tab and change the system version to Mountain Lion. Only then will you be able to install Mac OS X Lion. Head on over to the App Store and download the OS X Lion Installer from the App Store from your Mac OS X Lion Lion dmg file by following these directions. Once youve downloaded the installer, replace the LionInstaller.dmg file with the LionInstaller.dmg.zip file that you just downloaded from Softpedia.com. This option is by far the easiest way to install Lion on your Mac. You can also try to create a Lion Installation using the Lion Installer available on Apple.com. If you plan to sell your Mac you need to use this installer because you will not be able to start up your Mac using the Lion Installer on your flash drive. If you are installing on a mac of your own then this method is simply to make the Lion Installer just on the flash drive, it is very handy for anyone who wants to take the flash drive to a friends Mac.
